ABOUT ME

A fifth-semester Computer Science student at BINUS University majoring in Intelligent Systems (AI), passionate about building technology that solves real-world problems. Experienced in AI, web development, and UI/UX through university projects, and actively expanding my skills through self-learning. I love connecting with people, whether it's collaborating with teammates, joining social events, or contributing to volunteer activities that make a real difference. Eager to grow through immersive, hands-on learning experiences that combine technology, creativity, and human connection.
